Designed by Nature

From deluxe residential homes to design-forward commercial buildings, wood floors have the power to infuse any space with warmth and character. At WoodCo, we manufacture premium-grade solid and engineered wood flooring, using lumber sourced from sustainably-managed forests in the USA and Europe.

From reclaimed and character-grade floors through to contemporary styles, we offer a distinctive range of longer and wider boards that enable architects and design professionals to realize their vision in stunning, solid wood.

At the heart of the WoodCo brand is a deep reverence for the delicate forest ecosystems that provide us with such an inspiring product. When you choose WoodCo, you're choosing wood floors sourced exclusively from forests that meet strict US and international standards on environmental management and ethics, ensuring this valuable natural resource is protected for future generations.
